4 Thelma residents indicted in Floyd

BSN Staff Report

FRANKFORT — Four Johnson County residents, including three employees of a former Floyd County pain management clinic, were arrested Thursday on drug-related indictment warrants.

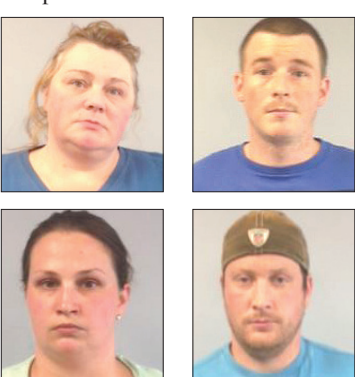

Yvonda Lazar, 44; Kenneth Lazar, 23; Derek Kennedy, 30; and Andrea Kennedy, 26, all of Thelma, were indicted June 4 by the Floyd County Grand Jury and arrested Thursday, according to a press release from the attorney general's office.

They are charged with theft of a prescription blank for controlled substances, obtaining a controlled substance by fraud or deceit, and forgery of a prescription.

The defendants were arrested by investigators from the attorney general's Department of Criminal Investigations, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, Kentucky State Police, and the Prestonsburg Police Department.

The indictments were the result of an investigation that began in 2010 after authorities received multiple complaints involving Commonwealth Quality Medical Management, which operated as a non-physician owned pain management clinic in Floyd County, the press release said. The clinic has since been shut down.

All but Derek Kennedy worked at the clinic, the press release said. They are accused of forging and passing prescription blanks at various pharmacies.

Johnson board to discuss superintendent hiring

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — The committee that is helping in the search for a new Johnson County school superintendent met Tuesday evening and was expected to recommend candidates for the position.

The meeting was scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Tuesday, which was after The Big Sandy News' press deadline. The agenda for the meeting said the screening committee was scheduled to review applications in executive session and then return to open session, with a motion to recommend candidates for the school board by "ID number."

A special meeting of the Johnson County Board of Education is scheduled for 5 p.m. today (Wednesday) to "discuss superintendent hiring," according to the agenda.

Tuesday was the third time the six-member screening committee has met in the search for a replacement for superintendent Steve Trimble, who will retire effective July 1. The group's next meeting is set for next Wednesday, June 18, and a joint meeting of the committee and school board is slated for June 19.

At that meeting, the committee will present its recommendations to board members, with the board set to interview candidates June 21-24, according to a timeline established last month.

A new superintendent is expected to be named June 26.

Screening committee members include board member Bob Hutchison; Flat Gap Elementary School principal Tracy May; teacher/certified BLACKLOG — A West Virginia man died as a result of a motorcycle accident in Martin County Sunday.

Donald Lee Ferrell, 60, of Switzer, W.Va., was pronounced dead at the scene by Martin County deputy coroner Ronnie Mathis.

According to Kentucky State Police at Pikeville, the accident happened on Rt. 40 at Blacklog Road. Ferrell was traveling west on Blacklog Road in the area of Sweetwater when a witness said that an oncoming vehicle crossed over into his lane of travel. Ferrell swerved to miss the oncoming vehicle, lost control of the motorcycle and overturned in the roadway, the report said.

Martin County Sheriff Garmon Preece said he was in Ashland at the time of the crash and that the KSP worked the scene.

"From what I understand, the rider behind him said that an S10 drifted into his lane and he tried to avoid the vehicle and lost control," Preece said.

The accident remains under investigation by KSP Trooper J. Neace.

LOUISA — A Lawrence County man was arrested Thursday in connection on felony sex offenses involving a 14-year old girl.

Harold K. Shannon, 66, of McClure Branch in Louisa, is charged with five counts of use of a minor under 16 years old in a sex performance, five counts of first-degree unlawful transaction with a minor-illegal sex acts with the victim under 16 years old, one count of promoting a minor under 16 years old in a sex performance and one count of possession/view matter portraying a sexual performance by a minor. Kentucky State Police said in a press release Friday that the assault involved sexual contact and photographing of the juvenile.

Kentucky State Police said the investigation was conducted after they received a call reporting Shannon in possession of

Attorney wants accusers held in contempt

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PIKEVILLE — A Floyd County disability lawyer accused in a lawsuit of defrauding the federal government of millions of dollars in unjustified disability claims wants his accusers found in contempt of court for not turning over documents they had provided the government.

A telephone conference is scheduled Thursday on a motion filed by an attorney for Eric C. Conn, who is one of several defendants in a whistleblower suit filed by a current Social Security Administration employee and a former employee of the agency.

Conn, former Administrative Law Judge David B. Daugherty and Drs. Srinivas Ammisetty and David P. Herr have filed separate motions asking that the suit, filed by current SSA employee Sarah Carver and former SSA employee Jennifer L. Griffith, be thrown out.

The defendants have asked that the suit be dismissed because, among other reasons, Carver and Griffith did not voluntarily disclose information concerning their claims to the government, Conn's attorney, Kent Wicker of Louisville, said in the motion filed Thursday.

Wicker said that U.S. District Judge Amul R. Thapar on May 15 scheduled an evidentiary hearing for June 23 to address the dismissal requests. The judge also ordered Carver and Griffith to produce by June 6 the disclosures they had made to the government.

"The Relators have refused to comply with the Court's order to produce their disclosures to the United States, despite the Court's explicit command to do so," the motion says.

The motion says the plaintiffs produced "an assortment of notes and electronic mail messages" to the defendants on June 6, but not the disclosures they had made to the government.

Wicker said in the motion that the plaintiffs' attorney, Benjamin Vernia, claimed that the disclosure was "work product" and protected by a "common interest privilege" and

Johnson woman convicted of manslaughter denied new trial

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — Johnson Circuit Judge John David Preston Thursday denied a motion for a new trial for a Johnson County woman convicted of manslaughter in April.

Myra Castle's attorney asked in the motion that her sentence to be altered, amended or vacated based on an allegation that a juror's son was a close friend of the victim and had multiple postings on his Facebook page.

Castle, 53, was convicted of second-degree manslaughter and DUI from an August 2013 collision that killed 18-year-old Casey Roger Mollett. She was formally sentenced in May to serve seven years for the manslaughter charge and 30 days for the DUI charge, which will be served concurrently.

Preston said in his order that the juror stated she does have a Facebook account but that it is also used by her husband, who does not have his own account, and that she didn't recognize a photograph of Mollett and still doesn't recognize a photo of him.

Preston said the juror testified that she didn't know her son was an acquaintance with Mollett and that she has no knowledge of her son's Facebook account, except that he has one, and didn't know how many friends he had and still doesn't know.

The juror reviewed photographs, and although she recognized her son in the pictures, she couldn't identify the other people in the photo and she said she was not a "Facebook junkie" and not acquainted with Mollett, nor had he ever come to her house.

The juror also said she visits her Facebook page daily to twice a week, but that she doesn't frequently visit her son's page. She said that her son played sports in school, but didn't know if he played with Mollett.

Preston said in the order that the court found from the evidence that the juror had little or no knowledge relating to Mollett and that the juror did not answer any questions untruthfully and didn't fail to answer any questions that she should have.

"The court concludes that there is insufficient evidence to support any allegation of juror misconduct in this case," Preston said in his order. "The defendant's motion to alter, amend, or vacate is therefore denied."

Castle's attorney, Ned Pillarsdorf, filed the motion June 2, alleging that a juror misled the defendant and the court as to knowledge she possessed of the case and asked that the court grant a new trial.

The motion alleged that the juror's son was a close friend of Mollett and that he had multiple postings on his Facebook page about Mollett's death.

The motion also alleged that the juror was a frequent visitor to her son's Facebook page and on at least one occasion liked a photograph of her son at Mollett's funeral.

"Because this connection was not disclosed, during voir dire, the Defendant was not afforded a proper opportunity to address this issue to ensure that her case was being heard by a neutral jury," the motion said. "Further, counsel for the Defendant did not investigate the juror's online profile once the trial had started because the juror's answers and her silence when asked about connections to the deceased gave them no reason to do so. Therefore the integrity of the verdict has been compromised and the Defendant moves this court to hold a hearing and to order a new trial."

The commonwealth responded that "everyone in Eastern Kentucky is connected in one way or the other and that the issue has always been whether the connection is enough of one for the parties to realize and then to recognize."

"Nothing in the answers or failure of the answers of the juror indicates anything more than a juror not realizing or recognizing a connection," the response said. "Commonwealth is of the opinion that an evidentiary hearing is necessary to confirm this."

The evidentiary hearing was held last Wednesday and the judge issued his ruling the following day.

explicit sexual images of a 14-year-old girl. During the course of the investigation, it was determined Shannon had engaged in oral sex with the juvenile. Shannon was also found to be in possession of several images depicting sexual performance involving the juvenile, according to the release.

Arrest warrants were issued Thursday, and Shannon was arrested and lodged in the Boyd County Detention Center. Additional charges are pending completion of the investigation, the release said. The case remains under investigation by KSP trooper Joshua Satterly.

assault of a police officer; third-degree criminal trespassing; operating on a suspended license; first-degree wanton endangerment; first-degree fleeing police in a motor vehicle; DUI first-offense, aggravated circumstance; first-degree possession of a controlled substance; possession of drug paraphernalia; and resisting arrest. He is also charged with various traffic offenses.

According to the police report, Louisa police Sgt. Steve Wilburn was investigating a shoplifting complaint at Tractor Supply and the suspect vehicle was located at Walmart.

While speaking with the suspect, Wilburn observed the stolen items in the vehicle, and the suspect then struck the officer with the vehicle he was driving, a 2006 Chrysler van registered to his wife, after which he fled the area, according to the report.

Wilburn, assisted by Lawrence County sheriff's deputies Mark Wheeler and Mason Keefer, pursued the vehicle south on U.S. 23, the report said.

While fleeing from law enforcement, the vehicle almost caused an accident with another vehicle at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Rt. 2565, the report said.

Officers pursued the vehicle to Music's residence at 42 Dogwood Drive in Louisa, where he was taken into custody.

Officers also recovered the stolen items, which included car batteries and a power inverter valued at $544.95, the report said. They also discovered suspected drugs and syringes beside the driver's seat, the report said.

Music was booked and transported to the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Johnson County.

refused to produce it.

"Counsel has urged Mr. Vernia by telephone and electronic mail to reconsider his position and has provided him the authorities showing his position is incorrect," Wicker said in the motion. "Mr. Vernia advised that he would 'think about it,' but the Relators continue to refuse to produce the documents."

Vernia, however, said in his response to the motion that he has complied with the judge's order to "provide limited jurisdiction discovery."

"In the motion to show case, the Defendants claim that the Relators agreed to produce the 'disclosure made pursuant to U.S.C. 3730(b) (2),' Vernia said in his response. "To the contrary, what the Relators agreed to produce was limited jurisdiction discovery regarding the voluntary nature of their disclosures to the government, that is, the Social Security Administration. The sole issue scheduled for the evidentiary hearing is whether the Relators 'voluntarily' disclosed information to the United States regarding their pre-amendment claims. As the Court noted, the issue of whether the Relators are the 'original source' is not disputed in this case."

Vernia said the motion is "nothing more than a thinly veiled attempt to discover that which is not discoverable."

"The Defendants have clearly rewritten the Court's order as a means to discover privileged work-product information which is specially excluded from discovery pursuant to Rule 26 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure."

Vernia said that it is "almost laughable that Conn would attempt to argue with a straight face that he needs this information for the evidentiary hearing to discover where the disclosures the Relators made to the Office of Inspector General for the Social Security Administration was voluntary since that information has been known to Conn from the very outset of learning of the investigation."

The lawsuit claims that Conn, "with the cooperation of Defendants Herr, Adkins, and Ammisetty, created and presented false medical documentation; and, Daugherty, after conducting sham proceedings, granted representative fees to Conn and disability benefits to Conn's clients."

"The fraudulent scheme resulted in the Social Security Administration paying millions of dollars in fraudulent representatives' fees to Conn, and many times that amount in fraudulent benefits to those of Conn's clients who were not entitled to them," the complaint alleges.

The suit claims Herr, Ammisetty and Adkins submitted fraudulent letters that were later submitted to the SSA as part of the alleged scheme.

Last week, U.S. Rep. Jackie Speier of California asked in a letter to the U.S. attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky to "conduct an independent evaluation" of the evidence in the Conn case and determine if any laws were broken.

Daugherty has voluntarily agreed to have his law license annulled in West Virginia.

‘Fallsburg, Kentucky and Beyond’ published by local author

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

FALLSBURG – Lawrence County author Wanda M. Cassady has published a new 486-page history book called “Fallsburg, Kentucky and Beyond.”

The book was available at the Fallsburg Country Store on June 11.

Cassady said in an email to The Big Sandy News that they think everyone will be surprised at the amount of information in the book and that incorporation papers as well as an old city map of Fallsburg are included.

Cassady said Professor Ernie Tucker was her inspiration for the project and that the history of Fallsburg is something she has always been interested in.

“He was my History instructor at Ashland Community College when I was going there to get my business degree,” Cassady said. “He inspired many students about the history and beauty of Eastern Kentucky. He also referred several students to me when they were doing projects about the history of Fallsburg. Over the years, I had collected many documents and pictures of old Fallsburg.”

Cassady also said former Kentucky Governor, Paul E. Patton, his sisters, JoAnn Stanfill and Linda Lou Erickson contact them and also wrote stories about their growing up years in Fallsburg and that other local people such as Bill and June Diamond, Faye Kitchchen and Edford Coffee wrote stories.

Cassady said her sister, Reba H. Whitt, “put it together for me with many hours of work.”

“The history book is full of old pictures and new ones,” Cassady said. “We want to thank everyone who contributed because they are authors too.”

Lawrence County Grand Jury issues five indictments

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

LOUISA – The Lawrence County Grand Jury issued five indictment Thursday, including one for sex offenses.

Frank Spears, 30, of Big Fork Road in Louisa is charged with two counts of first-degree sexual abuse involving two juveniles less than 12 years of age.

According to the indictment, on or about Oct. 28, 2013, Spears allegedly knowingly and unlawfully subjected a person less than 12 years of age, who is incapable of consent, to sexual contact.

Others named in true bills were:

- Thurman J. Caudill, 36, of Prestonsburg, charged with theft by unlawful taking under $10,000 and second-degree persistent felony offender.

According to the indictment, from on or about April 23, 2013, Caudill allegedly knowingly and unlawfully took a heavy-duty pull-behind trailer valued at $1,800 and a Craftsman brand air compressor valued at $120 belonging to Gary Callihan of Ulysses. He is also a previously convicted felon, the indictment says.

- Jonathan D. Adkins, 39, of Louisa, Michael Diamond, 39, and Tracy L. Diamond, both of Catlettsburg, charged with manufacturing methamphetamine/complicity.

Adkins and Michael Diamond are also charged with tampering with physical evidence/complicity.

According to the indictments, on or before March 27 through May 10, Adkins, Michael Diamond and Tracy Diamond, acting alone or in complicity with each other, allegedly knowingly and unlawfully manufactured methamphetamine or were in possession of chemicals and equipment to manufacture methamphetamine, with the intent to manufacture methamphetamine.

Adkins and Michael Diamond, acting alone or in complicity with each other, also allegedly knowingly and unlawfully destroyed, mutilated, concealed, removed or altered physical evidence which they believed is about to be used in an official proceeding, according to the indictment.

Editor’s note: An indictment is not an indication of guilt but a determination by a grand jury that criminal charges warrant further judicial review.

Lawrence court approves recycling grant agreement

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

LOUISA – The Lawrence County Fiscal Court approved a 2014-2015 Kentucky Pride Fund recycling grant agreement during its regular meeting Monday.

The Energy and Environment Cabinet's Division of Waste Management last week announced 49 recycling and 23 household hazardous waste (HHW) grants to expand recycling, reduce the amount of solid waste going into landfills and improve the environmental management of household hazardous waste, which includes electronic scrap and mercury from homes throughout Kentucky.

Lawrence County court received a $16,667 grant, which will be used to buy another baler for the Recycle Center, Judge-Executive John Osborne said.

Grant dollars from the Kentucky Pride Fund, which is generated by a $1.75 fee for each ton of municipal solid waste disposed of in Kentucky landfills, are financing the 72 grants totaling $3,041,950.85.

The grants require a 25 percent local match in the form of cash or "in kind" personnel, educational activities or advertising to promote the program from the cities or counties receiving the awards.

Also during Monday's meeting, the court approved a new economic development liaison since previously appointed county employee Ashonte' Ellis turned down the position.

Court members unanimously approved the appointment of Catrina Vargo with a motion from Magistrate John Lemaster, seconded by Bill Lemaster and all in favor.

Prior to the appointment, Magistrate Morris Howard asked Osborne whether the job is a mandatory position.

"It is not a mandatory position, but every time you turn around, someone asks who your economic development person is," Osborne said.

The part-time position pays $315 bi-weekly or approximately $8,000 annually.

Bids were awarded for surplus property on behalf of the Blaine Fire Department and the county.

Johnny Lin Spillman won the bid for a 1988 Ford tanker, a 1985 Ford 800 pumper and a 1984 Chevy 10 pumper, while the Thealka Fire Department won the bid for a 2003 Ford Explorer. There were no bids received for a 2003 Chevy truck with a starting bid price of $6,000.

Bids were also awarded for materials, including gravel, blacktop, gas, etc.

Big Sandy Resource won the bid for crusher rock, rip rap and a class three, and Big Sandy Stone won the bid for the remaining gravel.

Kentucky Underground won the bid on pipes and Mountain Enterprise won the bid for blacktop.

Only one bid was submitted for fuel, and BPI won it; however, the court also approved the use of fleet cards with a motion from Howard, a second from John Lemaster and all in favor.

In other business, Wes Kingsmore with the Lawrence County Gas Company asked the court for the right to lay gas lines in the county right of way in the area of Rt. 1760. Kingsmore said the company would stay on the original right of way where it could.

Howard asked whether the county had the right to allow the gas company to install lines in the rights of way, since in some cases it would be considered subleasing. County Attorney Mike Hogan said he would check but that it would be fine if the court wanted to grant tentative approval, then allow him to report back.

A motion approving the gas company request was made by John Lemaster, seconded by Howard, with all in favor.

Joe Wells asked the fiscal court to do work on Tad Pole Road.

"We pay taxes, and we outta have the road fixed," Wells said. "They come up and lay gravel, but you can't get them to grade the road first."

"We are supposed to have a grader up there in the next week or two, and if not, let me know," Osborne said.

John Hay asked the court to remove a tree from Vaughn Road because it is dangerous. The court agreed to the request.

Also Monday, the court unanimously approved the minutes of May 19 and May 30 meetings, the second reading of budget amendment #6, the second reading of the 2014-15 budget, the treasurer's request, the bills and the treasurer's report.

Circuit clerks attend college

FRANKFORT – Circuit court clerks from the Big Sandy region participated in the 2014 Circuit Court Clerks Spring College May 14-16 in Lexington.

The Administrative Office of the Courts provided the judicial education program for the state's circuit court clerks.

Among the circuit clerks who attended were Jodi L. Parsley of Lawrence County, Penny Adams of Johnson County and Douglas Ray Hall of Floyd County.

The circuit court clerks attended courses on the expungement process, court technology, working with the media, bookkeeping and disaster preparation. They also heard from motivational speaker Jeff Eger on leadership, community involvement and relationships with the public and other government officials.

"The office of circuit court clerk has an important role in the community," Shelby County Circuit Court Clerk Lowry S. Miller said. "In every county, citizens go to their circuit clerk's office to get their driver license, file court cases and report for jury duty. We want those we serve to have a positive experience. It was helpful for the circuit clerks to hear encouragement and advice on enhancing our relationship with the public."

Miller was elected to a one-year term as president of the Kentucky Association of Circuit Court Clerks during the college.

The college covered driver licensing and included sessions on the graduated driver license program, state traffic school, new federal laws for issuing commercial driver licenses, procedures after a driver is deceased and security practices for driver licensing offices. The college was funded with a grant from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Driver License Security Grant program and hosted by the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet's Division of Driver's Licensing.

Circuit court clerks had the opportunity to attend courses about the legal rights and responsibilities of the office of circuit court clerk and best practices in hiring individuals to work in their offices. They also heard from AOC Director Laurie K. Dudgeon, received an overview of court-related legislation passed during the 2014 General Assembly session and got an update from the Trust for Life program. The KACCC sponsors Trust for Life to promote organ and tissue donation through driver licensing and the Kentucky Organ Donor registry.

The college included 13.5 hours of continuing education credit for the circuit clerks.

CAN NSA SPY ON YOUR PHONE WHEN IT'S OFF?

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

Whether you consider Edward Snowden a traitor or a patriot, before he hit the news, most people didn't give much thought to government spying on everyday citizens. During a recent interview, he said that the NSA has the ability to spy on your smartphone, even if it's turned off.

Yes, this is exactly what you think it means. The NSA can listen to your conversations and use your camera when you powered off your phone. Sounds crazy but it can happen.

The most likely way is with a type of invisible spying app. Spying apps aren't anything new; everyone from corporations to hackers to jealous exes use them.

This spying app though doesn't just steal your surfing history, text messages and photos. It also gives the NSA full access to your phone's microphone and camera.

Your phone basically becomes a bug that tells the NSA everything going on around you. Any conversation you have or any embarrassing thing you do, the NSA will have it recorded.

The worst part is that even if you turned the phone off to be safe, it wouldn't really be off. The app makes your phone pretend to be off - it turns off the screen, ignores incoming calls and doesn't respond to button presses - but the spying will still be going on.

Now, if you wanted to have a sensitive conversation without worry, you could remove the phone's battery. Then the phone would really be off. But, some phones, like the iPhone, don't have a removable battery.

Here's when you get to feel like a spy. To truly turn off an iPhone you have to know how to use the "device firmware upgrade" or DFU, mode. This is what Apple and developers use to install iOS updates, jailbreak a phone or unlock a SIM card.

Don't worry, you're not doing any of that. You just want to really turn off your iPhone.

To get into DFU mode, you'll need an iPhone, USB cord and a computer with iTunes installed.

First, connect the iPhone to your computer using the USB cord and start iTunes. Once iTunes is running, go to the iPhone and hold down the Power button for three seconds, then press the Home button. Hold both buttons and count to 10 seconds.

The phone's screen will go black, but keep holding the buttons. After the 10 seconds are up, let go of the Power button, but keep the Home button pressed.

Hold the Home button for another 10 to 15 seconds. When you see a pop-up message in iTunes, you know you're successfully in DFU mode.

To watch a video of these steps in action, visit <http://videos.komando.com/watch/5805/kims-reports-how-to-nsa-proof-your-phone>.

When you're ready to get out of DFU mode, hold the Home button and Power button until the Apple logo appears. Then let the phone start like it normally would.

Of course, this turning on and off procedure is a complete hassle. So you might think it's better to keep the NSA or anyone else from putting the spy app on your phone in the first place. Good idea, but it's going to be tricky.

HHS hosts reception for area grads

PRESTONSBURG — Highlands Health System recently held a reception for recent Big Sandy graduates.

Big Sandy Community and Technical College nursing graduates were invited to attend a breakfast at the Highlands Medical Office Building in Prestonsburg to learn more about the health system and available job opportunities.

Participants heard presentations from Highlands' managers on numerous departments including general nursing, surgery, utilization review, education, and the emergency department.

"We are really excited to meet with the new graduates and discuss jobs at Highlands. It's important to us that our patients are being treated by their own community members," said Vickie Risner, RN, MSN, director of education for Highlands Health System.

Each participant received pens, scissors, and other general nursing supplies. Six winners received gift certificates to The Uniform Shop in an effort to comply with Highlands new uniform policy. The Highlands gift shop also donated 12 bud vases that were given to Big Sandy instructors in appreciation of their service to providing trained nurses for our communities.

Science Center hosts 'Opposites Attract' camp

PRESTONSBURG — The East Kentucky Science Center and Planetarium held an Opposites Attract full-day camp Tuesday, June 10.

Located on the Prestonsburg campus of Big Sandy Community and Technical College, the East Kentucky Science Center and Planetarium will hold a variety of summer camps for children of all ages in the coming weeks.

One-day camps, for children entering kindergarten through third grade, will be held Wednesday, June 25 (Test Tube Creations), and Wednesday, July 9 (Bubble-ology). Registration is $30 for non-members and $25 for members. The events run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and lunch is provided.

One more half-day, pre-school camp (Space Explorers) will be held Tuesday, July 1, from 9 a.m. to noon. Registration is $15 for non-members and $10 for members.

Camps for children entering grades fourth through eighth will be held on Friday, June 20 (Unsolved Mystery), Friday, June 27 (Doc McScience), and Tuesday, July 29 (Lego my Robot). Registration is $30 for non-members and $25 for members. The events run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and lunch is provided.

A two-day camp (Lost in Space) will be held for children entering grades third through eighth on July 15-16. Registration is $50 for non-members and $40 for members. The event runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily and lunch is provided.

Through a grant from the National Girl's Collaborative, the center will hold a free two-day camp for girls (Colorful Chemistry) on June 12-13. The event runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily and lunch is provided.

For more information on the camps, contact Terri Hall at (606) 889-4766 or email tking0113@kctcs.edu.

St. Joseph Martin raises more than $10k for ACS

MARTIN — Saint Joseph Martin, part of KentuckyOne Health, was the top corporate fundraiser for the Floyd County Relay for Life, a campaign for the American Cancer Society.

The facility hosted a number of fundraisers for the event, including silent auctions, bake sales and hot dog sales. In total, it contributed more than $10,600 to American Cancer Society to benefit cancer awareness and research.

At Relay for Life events, communities come together to honor cancer survivors, remember loved ones lost and fight back against disease. While it is showing some improvement, according to the CDC, Kentucky still has the highest cancer mortality rate in the United States. Based on a recent Community Health Needs Assessment, cancer is among the top three health priorities in Floyd County.

The Floyd County Relay for Life was held Friday, June 6, at Big Sandy Community and Technical College. KentuckyOne Health is participating in 11 Relay for Life events across Kentucky hosting fundraisers, walking teams and providing event support.

"We know that cancer awareness and treatment is among the top health priorities in our area," said Kathy Stumbo, president of Saint Joseph Martin. "Relay for Life is an important community event that provides support for cancer survivors and the families of those lost to this devastating disease. We are proud to partner with the American Cancer Society to raise funds for cancer research and awareness."

Multidisciplinary cancer care teams across the state consist of dedicated physicians, nurses, therapists, dietitians, social workers, pharmacists and lab technicians, plus the staffs of radiation oncology, radiology, and Palliative Care.

SPY: (Continued from A10)

The NSA or anyone else after you could slip a spy app on your phone disguised as another legitimate app. This is easier to do on Android phones because they can download apps from third-party sites and Google Play's review policy is very relaxed.

Apple gadgets can only download from the Apple App Store, and the nefarious would have to get the app past Apple's reviewers. That's harder, but still isn't impossible.

Another concern is that the NSA knows undiscovered bugs in operating systems and common programs that lets it collect data without anyone knowing. It turns out the NSA was exploiting the Heartbleed bug to spy on people, so it isn't that farfetched. And it's just about impossible for you to stop.

In the worst case, the NSA could pull the same trick it allegedly uses with American-made routers heading overseas. The NSA intercepts a router shipment, puts a backdoor in the software, packages the routers back up and sends them on. Then it can spy on any networks the routers connect to.

I doubt the NSA is doing that to phones coming into the U.S. - it would be a logistical nightmare if nothing else - but you never know.

If you're really worried about the NSA and spying apps, you might want to look into the new Blackphones. These Android-based phones are built from the ground up with security and privacy in mind.

Of course, once on the market, a Blackphone will set you back $630, so it isn't for the faint of heart or light of wallet. It might worth it, though, if it keeps the NSA out of your life - for now.

Travis York

York returns home to guide Bulldogs

LOUISA — Travis York has been named head basketball coach at Lawrence County High School.

York, a 1999 LCHS graduate, inherits one of the 15th Region's top boys' basketball teams.

The Bulldogs compiled a 21-11 overall record last season. Lawrence County lost zero seniors to graduation. Four sophomores and a freshman started for the Bulldogs during the 2013-14 season.

York, 33, replaces former head coach Josh Cook, who accepted the position of head coach of the Mercer County boys' basketball team in April. In two seasons as head coach of the Bulldogs, Cook compiled a 41-22 overall record.

York, who graduated from Lee University in 2003, is set to start his second stint as a head coach. He spent the 2013-14 season as the head coach of the Miami-Hamilton University in Ohio. He was an assistant under Coach Dwayne Terry for three seasons at Miami-Hamilton.

During his first season with the Harriers, the team finished the season ranked eighth in the USCCA. The team then competed in the USCAA national tournament. The Harriers made it to the Final Four of the ORCC Tournament in the 2012-13 season.

Prior to accepting the position in Lawrence County, York taught social studies at Hamilton High School.

York was busy coaching the Bulldogs in summer games last week.

Earlier in the year, Lawrence County finished runner-up to Johnson Central in the 57th District. The Bulldogs reached the semifinals of the 15th Region Tournament, falling to eventual region runner-up Shelby Valley.

Lawrence County competes in the talent-heavy 57th District, along with three-time defending 15th Region champion Johnson Central, Magoffin County, Paintsville and Sheldon Clark.

Jude named to CFPA Running Back Watch List

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Eastern Kentucky University football player J.J. Jude has earned a spot on the 2014 CFPA Running Back Award

Watch List, as announced by College Football Performance Awards (CFPA).

Jude, a native of Hager Hill, led Eastern with 637 yards on the ground last season. The sophomore twice reached the 100-yard plateau in 2013 including a career-best 195 rushing yards against Morehead State. Jude equaled a program record with four rushing touchdowns against the Eagles. He also piled up 114 yards and a score in the win over Southeast Missouri.

The running back position should be one of the stronger units for the Colonels this year. Jude joins newcomer Dy'Shawn Mobley and redshirt freshman Kentayvus Hopkins in the preseason backfield rotation. ECU averaged 198.7 yards per game rushing in 2013.

The initial CFPA watch list includes 38 returning performers, vying for the top running back award in the Football Championship Subdivision. All players are eligible for awards at their respective positions; players are not preemptively eliminated from consideration.

The goal of College Football Performance Awards is to provide the most scientifically rigorous conferrals in college football. Recipients are selected exclusively based upon objective scientific rankings of the extent to which individual players increase the overall effectiveness of their teams. Twenty-eight CFPA winners have been first-round NFL Draft selections.

Former ECU star Jeremy Caldwell earned the 2011 CFPA Elite Kickoff Returner Award.

The full list of 2014 CFPA winners will be announced Jan. 14, 2015. For more information on the CFPA, visit collegefootballperformance.com.

Eastern Kentucky begins the 2014 fall season with a Thursday night road game at Robert Morris on Aug. 28.
